To Whom It May Concern:

It is my pleasure to recommend Yoshikatsu Nakajima as a candidate for employment at your organization. Oakland Digital, a community based 501(c)(3) non-profit working to bridge the digital literacy and opportunity divide, is very fortunate to have had Yoshikatsu as an Engineer Intern. I first met Yoshikatsu in 2016 - he was positively recommended through Intrax.

When we interviewed Yoshikatsu for the engineer intern position on our web application, BRIDGEGOOD.com - we were impressed by his knowledge and passion to contribute towards a social good product. Our engineering advisors were impressed by Yoshikatsu's eagerness to make our platform better - helping connect under resourced students and businesses through BRIDGEGOOD.

As an Engineer intern, Yoshikatsu maintained high standards of software quality; collaborated with other developers; developed and tested applications; reviewed pull requests; analyzed and resolved technical issues; assessed opportunities for process improvements; and most impressive, implemented BRIDGEGOOD's gamification / leaderboard feature. In addition to his role as Engineer intern, Yoshikatsu helped present BRIDGEGOOD to over 100 Creatives - helping advance our mission of providing opportunity for under resourced students. Through his work at Oakland Digital, Yoshikatsu also gained key insights and valuable experience interfacing with directors from companies including Google and Salesforce.

On behalf of Oakland Digital's Board and Staff, we are grateful for Yoshikatsu's contributions to our organization and confident that he has the skill set and work ethic to add value to your company.

Sincerely,

Shaun Tai
